

Dr. Amihai Rottenstreich, a physician in the Department of Obstetric and Gynecology at the Lenox Hill hospital and Hadassah Ein Kerem medical center, Jerusalem, Israel.

Dr. Rottenstreich have published over 150 publications, focusing on the field of maternal diseases. One of his main interest include the issue of reproductive health among women undergoing bariatric surgery.

He has published dozens of articles in this field, performing both basic and clinical research. In addition, in 2021, he established a multidisciplinary clinic, the first of its kind in Israel, which deals with women's health issues after bariatric surgery.